Human Factor. Winemaking by the Kakhetian technology in qvevri (wine jar) began in Georgia 8 thousand years ago and this tradition is still continuous. During eight thousand years the Georgians have elaborated and improved winemaking methods. Thus, the main creators of winemaking according to the Kakhetian technology are the Georgian people who not only have created this unique rule, but, figuratively speaking, carried it in their bosom and saved it from the vicissitudes of life that befell this little country in the course of time.

In 2013, the UNESCO granted the status of intangible cultural heritage to the Georgian traditional method of winemaking in "qvevri", which indicates the uniqueness of this method and is a message to the whole world that wine is a part of the ancient Georgian culture. It was the crown of recognition of the traditional Georgian winemaking method in "qvevri", which gave a new stimulus to implement this method of making wine in Georgia and laid the foundation for its introducing into various European countries.

In the words of famous Italian winemaker and scientist J. Dalmaso, "The winemaking method, which is called the Kakhetian method and is essentially different from the European technology, has once more convinced us that this country had been known for its high quality wines from in the past too and will remain as the creator of this progressive direction in the future as well".

The geographical location of the micro-zone Akhoebi, its characteristic regional climate: mild winter and hot summer, moderate amount of precipitations, a quite high index of the sum of active temperatures, forest brown, humus carbonated soils, the special features of the vine varieties revealed in this micro-zone and local centuries-old tradition of viticulture and winemaking define the special organoleptic features and the high reputation of wine "AKHOEBI".
